

Testing Metrics: A Virtual Workshop

An RBCS Virtual Workshop: 3 PDU Credits

Some of our favorite engagements involve helping clients implement metrics programs for testing. Facts and measures are the foundation of true understanding, but misuse of metrics is the cause of much confusion. How can we use metrics to manage testing? What metrics can we use to measure the test process? What metrics can we use to measure our progress in testing a project? What do metrics tell us about the quality of the product? In this virtual workshop, Rex will share some things he's learned about metrics that you can put to work right away. You'll work on some practical exercises to develop metrics for your testing, and have a chance to discuss those with Rex and with other attendees.
